"United Next" Strategy Update

UNITED

151 → 174	220	+20%	~Flat
Avg Seats / Departure	50-Seat RJs Retired	ASM Growth vs 2019	Fleet Count

Gauge-Up Strategy Details

- 50-seat regional jets removed: 220 retired since 2021 (target: 280 by 2027)
- Average mainline seats/departure: 174 (up from 151 in 2019 — +15%)
- ASM growth of +20% vs. 2019 with aircraft count roughly flat
- Key enabler: replacing 50-seat RJs with 737 MAX narrowbodies
- Retirements in progress: 757-200/300, 767-300ER, older 777-200 frames
- A321neo order (120 aircraft) provides strategic hedge against Boeing delays

Capital Allocation Priorities

1. Fleet investment: $6.5–$7.0B CapEx (2025)
2. Debt reduction: ~$2B annual paydown target
3. Share repurchase: $1.5B authorized, ~$800M executed in 2024
4. Hub infrastructure: $4.8B+ total program

Target: Investment-grade credit rating by 2026

2025 Guidance & "United Next" Targets

UNITED

Metric	2025 Guidance	2026 Target ("United Next")
Adjusted EPS	$11.50 – $13.50	$25 – $27
Pre-Tax Margin	10.5% – 12%	~14%
Capacity Growth (ASMs)	+3–5%	+4–6%
CASM-ex	Flat to -1%	-2–3% cum. from 2024
Capital Expenditures	$6.5 – $7.0B	$5.5 – $6.0B
Free Cash Flow	$3.0 – $4.0B	$5.0B+
Share Repurchase	$1.5 – $2.0B	Accelerating

Macro Sensitivity & Positioning

- Every 1% GDP contraction → ~1.5–2% revenue impact
- Diversification (premium + international + loyalty) positioned as recession hedge
- International revenue (35% of total) partially insulates vs domestic-heavy carriers

Key Risks & Mitigations

UNITED

Risk	Severity	Impact	Mitigation
Boeing MAX delivery pace	High	Fleet plan delays, capacity shortfall	A321neo hedge order (120 aircraft)
Domestic fare pressure	Medium	Basic economy yield erosion	Premium mix shift, ancillary revenue
Macro / tariff uncertainty	Medium	Consumer demand softening	International diversification (35% rev)
Fuel price volatility	Medium	Margin compression	Hedging program, fleet efficiency
MAX 10 certification	High	200 aircraft delayed	Extend 737-800/900, A321neo backup

Risk Assessment Summary: Boeing delivery risk remains the single largest uncertainty for fleet plan execution. The A321neo order with Airbus provides a strategic hedge, while United's premium revenue mix and international diversification offer resilience against domestic fare and macro pressures. FAA production cap of 38 MAX/month post-Alaska door plug incident (Jan 2024) remains a headwind.
